ANNOUNCEMENTS

'GOOD BYE'

Rabbi Tom Heyn and his wife Alexandra are leaving Cincinnati in June to be welcomed into leadership positions with the Brattleboro Area Jewish Community in Vermont. In addition to being the Rabbi of Congregation Shir HeHarim (Song of the Mountains), Rabbi Heyn will become the area's first Interfaith Chaplain for New England's largest end-of-life care provider, Beacon Hospice.

"Rabbi Tom," as he is known to many, came to Cincinnati in 1995 as a second-year student at HUC-JIR. During the fifteen years he spent here, he taught courses for synagogues, religious schools, adult-ed programs, local colleges and universities. He was involved musically with the JCC camps, Rockwern Academy and numerous congregations, performing solo, with choirs, and as one of Cincinnati's "Three Jewish Tenors" for countless community events and services.

Rabbi Heyn was a popular speaker on interfaith panels and was frequently invited to deliver invocations and benedictions at both Jewish and non-Jewish gatherings. He touched the lives of even more people through his work as a rabbi and chaplain serving the community through his affiliations with the Brookwood Retirement Community, Drake Center, Jewish Family Service, Cedar Village, Congregation Ohav Shalom and Cincinnati Children's Hospital.

Rabbi Heyn has been the rabbi-of-choice for hundreds of affiliated and unaffiliated Jewish families, officiating at more than 50 wedding and life-cycle ceremonies and at over 300 funerals and memorial services. Throughout his ministry, he consoled and inspired literally thousands with words and deeds that reflected his skillful integration of Jewish spirituality and humanism. He will return to Cincinnati for future weddings and funerals at which he has agreed to officiate.

In 2002, Rabbi Heyn founded the Jewish Spirituality Network of Southwestern Ohio, an online forum through which its members continue to share information and resources. He hopes that many more will subscribe to the network in order to connect with and support the multitude of Jews who describe themselves as "spiritual but not religious."

All are invited to a "Musical Shabbat & Farewell Reception" planned for 7-10 p.m. on June 4 at the Historic Lloyd House in Clifton. For more information and to post comments to his online guestbook, visit Rabbi Tom's Web site.
